TEXAS SENATE VOTES RIGHT-TO-WORK BILL, BANNING CLOSED SHOP

HOUSE REVIVES GAS TAX PLAN AFTER REED RULES MEASURE DEAD

AUSTIN, March 20.—(AP)—The senate today passed an amended version of Rep. Marshall Bell's "right to work" bill, termed by opponents as a measure outlawing the closed shop in Texas.

The vote was 23 to 4.

Balloting came after more than an hour of argument over two amendments.

Rail Unions Exempted.

The successful amendments by Sen. G. C. Morris would exempt any union covered by the National Railway Labor act, which covers four railroad brotherhoods in Texas.

The second by Sen. T. C. Chadick would have made the bill applicable not only to labor unions but "to any association or organization of any nature whether created by statute or otherwise. Chadwick admitted it would have affected lawyers, barbers, engineers, beauty operators and "even Communists." Chadick withdrew the amendment after lengthy argument.

The bill now goes back to the house, where it passed 96 to 37. A constitutional amendment of similar nature is still in the house awaiting final passage.

"Punitive Legislation."

"You can't call this bill anything but punitive legislation," said Morris. "You are trying to punish a group of people who were not guilty of anything during the war or anytime."

"It's just like a basgetball game," Chadick said. "Management is one team and labor is the other. This bill removes the basket for the labor team. The game can continue but labor can't score anymore."

A charge by Chadick that anyone voting for the bill was "the best friend Joe Stalin has in the legislature" drew protests from every corner of the senate chamber. He later assured the body he meant no implication that anyone was a Communist or connected with the party.

Voting against the bill were Chadick, W. R. Cousins, James A. Stanford and Kyle Vick.

House Studies Tax.

After rowing over Rep. C. S. McLellan's natural gas tax bill for three hours, the house decided to take no action on it today and adjourned until 10 a. m. Monday.

The house brought back to life Rep. McLellan's bill after Speaker Reed had ruled the measure "void and dead."

By two-thirds vote, 100 to 38, the house suspended a house rule under which McLellan's bill had been declared void because of a difference in text in the two copies originally filed with the chief clerk.

Proponents of the measure immediately pushed for passage of the bill to third reading and possible final passage to the senate.

BOARD OF CONTROLS APPOINTEE BLASTED IN HOUSE ADDRESS

AUSTIN, March 20.—(AP)—Rep. Tom Martin of Fredericksburg today blasted the appointment of T. B. Warden to the Board of Control as a "cement-trust boy" and representative of one of the "most cruel interests" in Texas in a vitrolic personal privilege speech before the house.

"I beg every one of you to put your stamp of disapproval" on the Warden appointment, the representative from Fredericksburg shouted.

Gov. Beauford H. Jester last night announced the appointment of Warden to the post vacated by Carlos Ashley.

House Republicans Approve Tax Slash On Small Incomes

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—The House Republican steering committee approved today a 30 per cent tax cut for 20,000,000 persons in the low income bracket and a 20 per cent slash for virtually all of the 46,000,000 other taxpayers.

This change in the Knutson 20 per cent across-the-board reduction plan would give $386,000,000 additional relief to those taxpayers with taxable income (gross incomeless personal exemptions and deductions) of $1,000.

Speaker Martin (R-Mass) told reporters after the closed-door steering committee meeting that the tax bill will go before the full house ways and means committee tomorrow for a showdown vote.

Clark Asks Speedy High Court Action In Pay Case Appeal

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Attorney General Tom C. Clark today asked the supreme court for an immediate review of the decision by U. S. District Court Judge Frank A. Picard which denied employes of the Mt. Clement Pottery company portal to portal pay.

In a petition filed with the high tribunal, Clark said the public interest will be "promoted" by prompt settlement of the questions involved in the historic case.

Suits approximating $6,000,000,000 on portal pay claims have been filed against companies in numerous states.

Clark's petition said:

"The public interest in the prompt settlement of the scope of the de minimis doctrine (the doctrine that courts will not deal with trivial matters), as applied to walking time and preliminary activities under the Fair Labor Standards Act is apparent."

"Since the decision in this case (by the supreme court) which was handed down in June, 1946, numerous suits seeking very substantial sums purporting to rest on that decision, have been filed throughout the country", he added.

Arnold Nomination Off.

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP)—President Truman withdrew today his nomination of Herbert E. Arnold of Dallas to be federal internal revenue collector for Northern Texas.

Dr. Pepper, Others Face Sugar Count

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 20.—(AP)—Eleven corporations, including Dr. Pepper Co., of Dallas, Texas, and 36 individuals from eight states were indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of conspiracy to violate sugar rationing regulations.

U. S. Atty. Everett N. Grantham and investigators for the Office of Temporary Controls said the indictments were based on charges involving the diversion of a million and a quarter pounds of sugar into the black market.

Within five minutes after receiving the grand jury's report, Federal Dist. Judge Colin Neblett directed that the defendants be arraigned May 5 at Santa Fe, N. M., and on recommendation of Grantham fixed the appearance bond of each corporation and individual at $1,000.

Grantham told the court that "all these people are business men and none of them is going to run away" in recommending the amount of bond.

Bank Clerk Indicted.

A. M. Bartlett, Hobbs, N. M., soft drink manufacturer who was accused of fraudulent sugar withdrawals from a ration bank account in an earlier indictment, was named again in each of four new bills, and Mrs. Trudy S. Edwards, former ration teller at the Lea County State Bank in Hobbs, was charged anew in one indictment after being billed with Bartlett in the original case.

In addition to the parent Dr. Pepper Co. at Dallas, the grand jury also reported true bills naming Dr. Pepper bottling firms at Denver, Colorado, Fort Worth, Texas, Grand Junction, Colorado, Greensboro, N. C., and Winston-Salem, N. C., and Albuquerque; and four wholesale grocery houses —the Tyler-Simpson Co., Fort Crop Forecasts Made.

WASHINGTON, March 20—(AP)—The agriculture department today forecast a 1947 wheat crop of 1,212,000,000 bushels and a corn crop of about 3,000,000,000 bushels.

By comparison, last year's wheat crop was 1,155,715,000 bushels, the largest of record, while crops for the ten-year period of 1935-44 averaged 843,692,000.

Last year's corn crop, also a record, was 3,287,927,000 bushels and the ten-year average was 2,608,499,000.

Influenza Cases In Navarro County Estimated At 3000

There are at least 2,500 to 3,000 cases of influenza still being treated in Navarro county, Dr. Will Miller, acting director of the Corsicana-Navarro Health Unit, estimated Thursday.

Dr. Miller based his estimate on the assumption that one out of 10 cases is reported, and that during the past week some 250 to 300 were actually turned in.

"Doctors are awfully busy," he said. "They are rushed during an epidemic such as this and have so little time to report the actual number of cases they have. Some persons, too, don't use a doctor. They go to bed and doctor themselves."

Dr. Miller said that Corsicana druggists reported a small decrease in prescription business Wednesday, indicating the epidemic had slumped somewhat.

The druggists' prescription counter, the strain on delivery service, number of night emergency calls are always excellent barometers of illnesses, officials say.

Dr. Miller also reported a mild epidemic of mumps, but said it was not as heavy now as it had been, and had never reached very serious proportions.

There are some cases of measles, and chickenpox, he added.

MOTORISTS' SURVEY UNDER WAY TO FIND BEST HIGHWAY ROUTE

Motorists leaving Corsicana after 10 a. m. Thursday had a lot of questions propounded to them, the answers to which may decide the final location of Super-Highway No. 75.

Both men and women students of Navarro Junior College were manning six stations at strategic highway points to gain an eight-hour conception of the flow of traffic through Corsicana.

Supervised By Baker.

The survey is being supervised by Reed Baker, assistaant traffic manager of the Texas highway department. He met with the students at 9 a. m. Thursday at the city hall before the group left to take their posts on the highways.

Only outgoing traffic was to be stopped.

There were six stations where motorists were to be halted. They were (1) convergence of U. S. 75 and U. S. 287, (2) State Highway 31 to Waco, (3) State Highway 22, (4) road to Emhouse, (5) U. S. 75 to Dallas, (6) State Highway 31 to Henderson.

Five Questions Asked.

The questionnaire was divided into five major questions, including the type of vehicle, the state of registration, origin and destination, whether stop was made in Corsicana, and if so, where, and the purpose of the stop.

The eight-hour factual data will later be screened to gain a picture of an ordinary day's travel over highways leading to Corsicana.

DISTRICT ATTORNEY DOUBTS CHARGE DUE IN BOAT EXPLOSION

SANTA ANA, Calif., March 20.—(AP)—A 17-year old co-ed and her 21-year old boy friend were held today on bookings of murder in the explosion deaths of her parents aboard a yacht, but District Attorney James L. Davis said "there is a definite question whether any complaint will be issued in the case."

Concluding an interview with the girl, the district attorney—who would be called upon to prosecute any charge issued against the pair—said:

French Approval Of Big Four Reich Plan Tied To Coal Quota

MOSCOW, March 20 — (AP) — France notified the council of foreign ministers tonight that she could not agree to economic reconstruction of Germany unless other powers agreed to her demands for guarantees of German coal.

Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France, answering the rejection of his request for coal guarantees by British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin last night, said:

Coal Agreement Key.

"I am directed by my government to state that we cannot be parties to agreement on other problems raised—economic unity, level of industry and reparations—without a previous settlement of the scheme for export of coal in a sense which is in conformity with our request.

"No different attitude could be adopted by any French government."

Russia agreed yesterday to a larger share of German coal for France.

Deputies of the four-power foreign ministers were reported today to have agreed that at some future point, all Allied belligerents and all former enemy states which turned against and fought Germany should have a chance to express their views on the German treaty.

Major Agreement Made.

This is one of the few major points agreed upon in the deputies' study of the German question, according to official informants who have followed the debates in London and Moscow.

The agreement was described as coming at the last minute, before the deputies were to submit their recommendations and their various open disputes to the foreign ministers themselves.

Soviet Deputy Andrei Y. Vishinsky contended that participation by the Allied states in making the German treaty should be held to the Potsdam formula, under which only states "directly interested" would take part. U. S. Deputy Robert Murphy and British Deputy Sir William Strang urged broader small-national participation.

Albania Among Issues.

Vishinsky made it clear that among the disagreements to be passed on to the council would be the status of Albania in the small-nation participation. Russia proposes her admission. The United States and Britain have objected.

The agreement the deputies are reporting to the council provides for the committee system for future work on the German treaty, an information and consultation conference of smaller nations, and hearings for Allied and former enemy states interested. These states were not named, but an official said Italy evidently would be qualified along with others under this provision.

New Conference Due.

French Deputy Maurice Couve De Murville urged that the information and consultation conference be started immediately, so that 18 smaller nations are certain to include China, Brazil, India, the British Commonwealth countries and European nations which originally fought under Hitler, such as Belgium, Norway and Poland.

Authoritative sources said today that Moscow's official reaction to President Truman's Greek-Turkish proposals seemed to be trending toward the view that the United States is developing an out-and-out anti-Soviet policy.

First inklings of the official Russian line were reaching American ears informally today and roused immediate speculation as to what effect, if any, such a view would have on the prospects for reaching agreement in the current negotiations on the future of Germany.

BRITAIN IS BATTLING SWEEPING FLOODS; 1,000 MAROONED, MANY LOSING HOMES IN NEW DISASTER

LONDON, March 20.—(AP)—Thousands of soldiers, civilians, police and German war prisoners fought a losing battle today to hold back overflowing rivers that already had spread destruction and misery through scores of towns and villages. Aid was on the way to stricken communities.

Two army amphibians sped toward to mining village of Bentley near Doncaster in Northern England, where a telegraphed SOS said last night 1,000 persons had been trapped without food for more than 24 hours.

"Position Desperate"

"Posititon desperate," E. Whitley, chairman of the Bentley urban district council, wired Evelyn Waldken, member of parliament for the area. Whitley said small boats could not get through churning waters of the Don river surrounding the town and added "Power-driven boats essential for food distribution and evacuation of people." Walken arranged for army help.

The amphibians were not expected to reach the town until late today.

Meanwhile, Donctser police planned another attempt to take food in by rowboat.

Two Villages Evacuated

In the Thames valley, two villages were to be evacuated, and police delivered coal in rowboats to marooned invalids at Caversham.

Hundreds of fresh troops and more convoys of equipment and material were rushed to Ely in the marshy eastern Fenland region to fight widening breaches in the banks of the great Ouse river.

Rivers throughout the industrial midlands were over their banks and still rising in the worst floods in living memory, and the air ministry reluctantly forecast rain with a "further outlook" of still more rain.

In parts of 34 of England's 40 counties, thousands were being evacuated to crowded refugee centers.

The effect on industry remained unassessed, but reports to the ministry of agriculture indicated the biggest farming disaster in years, presenting a new crisis to a nation spending critically needed borrowed dollars to import food.

Tens of thousands of sheep and cattle had drowned, adding to the toll of 3,000,000 killed under heavy snows in Britain's worst winter.

Winter Wheat Lost

Most of the winter wheat crop was lost on tens of thousands of flooded acres of rich land, now unlikely to be fit for cultivation for many months. Spring sowing of other urgently needed crops was put weeks behind schedule.

In the Fenlands—a marshy area in the east and Britain's richest agricultural section—the entire potato crop had been destroyed and 40,000 acres of wheat-producing soil hand been ruined.

The ministry of fuel and power said floods had slowed the movement of coal to industries in the west midlands and Yorkshire. Only about a dozen mines were cut off entirely from both rail and highway outlets, however, and none was entirely out of production, the ministry said.

More than three hundred roads were blocked and a few communities were isolated.

Scrip Use Curbed

Gov. Thompson Of Georgia Gives Legislature Plans

By ROMNEY WHEELER.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 20.—(AP)—Gov. Melvin E. Thompson declared today that Herman Talmadge and his political associates no longer had the right to speak for the Democratic party, and branded the Talmadge-sponsored "white supremacy" legislation as an invitation to fraud and stolen elections.

In a speech delivered before a joint session of the Georgia legislature, just 24 hours after the state supreme court had rejected Talmadge's claim to the governorship, Thompson said:

"Those who sought to seize the state of Georgia for their selfish ends, and who undertook to prostitute the Democratic platform to extend their own reign, now have no right to speak for the Democratic party.

Not People's Program.

"Their program is not the people's program. It is not the Democratic program, it is not my program. No selfish group can exploit Georgia, and no selfish group will ever control Georgia so long as elections are free."

Thompson, who mus ptass on 151 bills apparently signed illegally by Talmadge, indicated he might veto Talmadge's number one measure, the so-called "white primary" bill.

He declared, however, he favored restoration of the Democratic white primary, and asked enactment of legislation which would set rigid education requirements for voting and provide separate voting booths for white persons and negroes.

Thompson turned stinging rebuke on Talmadge for his attempt

RED CROSS CAMPAIGN CONTINUES SLOWLY; TOTAL IS $7,669.73

The 1947 American Red Cross drive to raise $11,017 continued slowly Thursday as a new total of money raised the first 20 days of the campaign reached $7,669.73.

Lloyd K. Carraway, general chairman, announced that Rice had raised its $100 quota, and had made a report to headquarters. A. C. Hervey was chairman of the campaign in that community, Carraway said.

The Optimist Club, of which Jack Stroube is president, has assumed the responsibility of cleaning up the advance gifts campaign.

BELIEF EXPRESSED NO FIGHT TO RESULT IN HOUSE PANEL HEARING

STATE UNDERSECRETARY TELLS LAWMAKERS ACT MAY EASE FRICTIONS

WASHINGTON, March 20.—(AP)—Undersecretary of State Acheson expressed conviction today that American aid to Greece and Turkey to block the spread of Communism will not "lead to war."

That question was raised by Rep. Mansfield (D-Mont) as the house foreign affairs committee questioned Acheson on President Truman's broad program to send money, material and military missions to the two Mediterranean countries.

Solemn Declaration.

Acheson hesitated for a moment and then solemnly declared:

"I was going to say—no possibility that it would lead to war." He paused again then added:

"I don't think it could lead to war. By strengthening the forces of Democracy and freedom, you do a great deal to eliminate the friction between great powers."

On the other hand, he said, collapse of Greece and Turkey "might set off a chain reaction" among other countries—both to the east and to the west—"struggling under similar pressure."

"Assume" Nothing.

He was asked bluntly by Rep. Smith (R-Wis) whether congress should assume the United States would pursue the same policy in other countries.

"I don't think it is ever correct to assume anything", Acheson replied. "There are other areas in which we may not be able to give help. There are countries in which we may give aid in a different way."

He insisted that help for Greece and Turkey to resist Communist aggression cannot wait for United Nations action but assured the lawmakers:

Direction Studied.

"We are giving serious consideration and study to ways in which the United Nations may take hold of this problem after the present emergency is passed," he added.

Not once in his prepared testimony did Acheson mention Russia by name. But he said armed bands in the north, under Communist leadership, are already fighting, Greek against Greek.

In the event of economic collapse and government paralysis, Acheson went on, these bands would undoubtedly increase in strength until they took over Greece and instituted a totalitarian government.

March 31 Deadline.

The administration has set a March 31 goal for congressional clearnace of the momentous Greek-Turkish aid Bill.

Acheson outlined the administration's position as the house group began hearings on President Truman's request for authority to send $400,000,000 and limited military aid to Greece and Turkey.

He did not mention Russia by name but commented that if the Greek-Turkish problem was put up to the United Nations it might run into a veto.

Austin To Report U.N. Reaction On Plans To Truman

By LARRY HAUCK

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., March 20.—(AP)—American Delegate Warren R. Austin today carried a report direct to President Truman on United Nations reaction toward proposed American aid to Greece and Turkey.

As Austin faced a series of conferences with state department and high administration officials in Washington, the U. N. turned from atomic energy to lesser weapons of death in its world disarmament program.

The 12-nation atomic energy commission, with Soviet Delegate Andrei A. Gromyko in the chair, voted unanimously to refer the report on atomic control back to its working committees in another attempt for agreement on basic issues where the United States and Russia still stand far apart.

TEACHERS PAY BILLS STUDIED

By DAVE CHEAVENS AND BO BYERS.

AUSTIN, March 20.—(AP)—A mass of evidence supporting two sharply differing methods of paying Texas teachers more money, looking toward raising educational standards generally, was in the hands of a senate finance subcommittee today.

It was developed at a public hearing that ran well past midnight, that brought some sharp words and accusations, but which both sides finally agreed shed some light on the 50th legislature's major problem.

Per Capita Bill Favored.

Spokesmen for the teachers did not indicate they were budged from their belief that the $55 per capita bill and the $2,000 minimum pay bill offered in the house by Rep. Dallas Blankenship of Dallas and in the senate by A. M. Aiken, Jr., of Paris, was the best route.

Sen. Jim Taylor of Kerens, chairman of the senate finance committee and author of the equalization measure which he believes furnishes the best formula, also held firm to it. He said while he did not think it was the last word, it was still the best means in sight for raising teachers' pay.

The subcommittee took no action. Chairman G. C. Morris indicated it might report next Wednesday.

Arguments Outlined.

Arguments for the per capita bill in essence were this: The method is stable and has been long tried and found workable: it minimizes state control and emphasizes local control of schools; it is so written as to guarantee that the money would be used for teachers' pay first; where it did not suffice, an adequate equalization bill would supplement local and per capita funds.

Taylor and Sen. Pat Bullock of Colorado City testified for the equalization bill. Taylor contended that under the per capita bill, a premium was placed on non-attendance; that it would give funds to many school that did not need it; that his equalization bill could be financed by revenues in hand or in sight and if there is not enough money in the bill to do the job he would see to it enough was put in; that the per capita bill would not give some districts a $2,000 minimum if they stuck by standards which set 30 pupils per teacher as the maxmum teaching load.

It was in discussing this point with H. W. Stillwell, superintendent of schools at Texarkana, that Taylor threw several punches at the Teachers' association. Stillwell is a member of the group's legislative committee which circularized school people advocating the $55 per capita measure.

Taylor contended that simple arithmetic would show in one instance—the Nacogdoches schools—that the per capita bill would fall short of bringing salaries to a $2,000 minimum if the 30 pupil per teacher standard was maintained.

"You either misinformed deliberately or miscalculated in telling the superintendent at Nacogdoches that the $55 per capita and $2,000 minimum pay bills would guarantee that salary," he told Stillwell.

Stillwell came back with the statement that Taylor's bill also would not provide for such minimum because "there isn't enough money in it." He said that under the equalization bill introduced by Sen. Bob Proffer of Justin, such schools as Nacogdoches would receive enough additional state aid to bring pay to the $2,000 minimum.

Principal Joe Humphrey of Abilene high school told the committee that unless the per capita bill was adopted, teachers in Texas would be driven to unionization or the schools would have to seek federal aid. This, he said, was not desirable.

ONE-ARMED 'SPARKS' SEA RESCUE HERO

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20.—(AP)—A one-armed radio operator who finally ground out a prayerful distress signal on a makeshift set after four attempts had failed was acclaimed a hero today by 10 survivors of the broken tanker Fort Dearborn.

While the navy continued to search for 12 or 13 more crew members still missing, the 10 survivors who reached San Francisco yesterday gave a full, gripping story of how their ship snapped apart just after midnight March 12 during a storm and cast them adrift on the bow section for 50 hours.

Interviewed aboard the liner General W. H. Gordon, one of the rescue vessels, they all credited "Sparks"—Radioman Henry F. Wiehr of Los Angeles—with saving their lives.

Wiehr, despite the handicap of only one arm and smashed glasses, sought vainly to transmit an SOS with broken, water-soaked equipment, and finally, with the help of the chief steward, rigged an emergency set in the charthouse.

The weak SOS was picked up by the S. S. John Foster nine hours after the Fort Dearborn broke, and was relayed to the American President Liner General Gordon which was closer to the wreck scene. The General Gordon steamed 300 miles and reached the drifting bow section in 16 hours.

Two of the Gordon's lifeboats were smashed and one, eight-man crew nearly lost in the initial rescue attempts before the survivors were picked up by a motor launch from a second rescue ship, the freighter St. John Victory. They later were transferred to the Gordon.

Wiehr, told of the nightmarish experience trying to transmit a distress call.

"At 12:15 a. m. on March 13, there were two terrific concussions, as if we had been rammed," he related. "I was thrown from my bunk and my head hit a bulkhead.

"I heard Captain Mahoney (Capt. Richard Mahoney of Corpus Christi, Texas) yell 'Get up, Sparks! the ship's parted! Try to get out an SOS!'"

The radioman found the antennae had been carried away. His regular radio was useless.

Three attempts to transmit with an emergency transmitter failed. What little equipment we had was damaged by concussion or water.

"There was one more chance—a small emergency transmitter for a lifeboat," Wiehr went on. "It was on a rack in the radio room. But the batteries were too far gone. We had to figure out something else."

Sanford Rogers, the chief steward of West Plains, Mo., carried the transmitter up to the chartroom, Wiehr said, "and that was some feat, with our remnant of the ship buckling and rolling and the decks slippery with water and oil from the broken tanks."

In the chartroom they rigged the transmitter to batteries from the direction finder and ran an antenna out the door and up a speaking tube to the brigde, where Rogers succeeded in attaching it to the "Christmas tree," as they call the wartime arrangement of convoy signal lights they still carried.

By 4 a. m., Wiehr sent out his first SOS, and kept it up at intermittent periods all day and night, careful to conserve his scanty power supply.

"Then the miracle occurred," Wiehr said. "We hadn't known whether our SOS calls had been heard. But a big plane suddenly appeared, circled over us and dropped a couple of liferafts. And about two hours later the General Gordon and the freighter St. John's Victory showed up.

"Man, what a relief!"

Twenty-two men still were adrift on the stern section. These were taken off by a navy vessel which was proceeding toward Honolulu, some 1,100 miles to the southeast.

But a lifeboat with 12 or 13 men aboard has not been seen since. Survivors arriving here felt these men perished.

to bar negroes from the polls by removing primaries from state control and making them subject only to party rules which could exclude any voter, white or negro, if not acceptable to the party.

Thompson continued: "I am for a white primary but I am not for any measure or legislation that would strike out every primary election law from the statutes of our state and allow fraud and stolen elections to run rampant in Georgia."

Thompson, upheld as acting governor by the state supreme court yesterday, quickly accepted a hastily voted invitation to address the assembly and said he would outline his "must" program of essential legislation.

With the exception of a single local bill, all the assembly's enacted measures have gone for executive approval to Herman Talmadge, whose election by the legislature as governor was invalidated by the high court decision.

Talmadge Bills Invalid.

State Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook ruled in a formal opinion that measures signed by Talmadge were invalid unless resubmitted to Governor Thompson. He suggested the legislature could accomplish this by a joint resolution requesting the secretary of state to return all Talmadge-signed bills and directing that they be submitted to Thompson for approval.

Rep. Charles Gowen, a Thompson leader, indicated such a resolution would be prepared for immediate introduction. The legislature is fighting against a Saturday midnight deadline to clear its calendars of such major legislation as the $118,000,000 general appropriations bill and a general sales tax measure.

Wednesday, nine weeks to the day after the legislature had named Talmadge governor in a tumultous early morning session, was one of swiftly moving events.

Position Changes Swiftly.

Its major developments:

1. The high court rejected the legislature's election of Talmadge as "a void act, which did not confer upon him any right or title to the office of governor." The 5-to-2 decision, momentous in the state's history, held that there was no legal successor to Gov. Ellis Arnall after the death of Gov.-Elect Eugene Talmadge 23 days before his scheduled inauguration and that the executive power properly passed from Arnall, on his resignation Jan 18, to Thompson as acting governor.

Talmadge Accepts Decision.

2. Talmadge, who had once said the courts had no authority to adjudicate the disputed governorship, calmly accepted the decision and promptly vacated the executive offices and the governor's mansion. Subordinates handed over the keys to Thompson.

3. Declaring he accepted the court's mandate "with malice toward none and charity to all," Thompson promised to make his administration one of "law and order" and appealed for the support and prayers of those who placed the welfare of the state above partisan politics.

4. Talmadge and his chief supporter, former House Speaker Roy Harris, indicated the former's candidacy for governor in the state's 1948 general election. Talmadge said in such an issue as that decided by the supreme court, the electorate was the "court of last resort" and the question would be carried there.

Recent Rains Cause Damage At City Lake

Recent heavy rains have caused damage of approximately $10,000 to the dam at Lake Halbert, city water supply, it was learned Wednesday.

Heavy downfall of recent weeks loosed dirt on the dam, causing a series of slides approximately 50 feet in width, according to Fred V. Blucher, city engineer.

City Commissioner N. F. Garrett said work on repairing the dam would be started as soon as the weather permits.

He estimated at least $10,000 would be required to put it back in shape.

CARD OF THANKS.

We wish to take this means to thank those who sent the beautiful flowers, for the many expressions of sympathy and for their kindness at the death of our son and brother.—J. S. Davis, Mrs. M. L. Davis and Children.

THIRTEEN CLUBS ARE PRESENT FOR HOME COUNCIL'S MEETING

Thirteen clubs in Navarro county were represented Saturday, March 15, when the County Council of the Home Demonstration Clubs met at Kinsloe House.

A talk by a representative from the social security board pertaining to social security for farm families was given in order that the information might be disseminated among the clubs in Navarro county.

The chairman of the marketing committee reported that roses could be bought co-operatively from a nursery at Tyler at a great saving.

Club ladies in the county were urged to be present on April 8, when the Texas Home Demonstration Association meets at the State Orphans Home here.

A major item of business transacted was the election by the council of Mrs. Hubert Elder of Mildred, Mrs. Earl Ingham of Pickett and Mrs. S. A. Beeman as its delegates to the April 8 meeting of the THDA.

Miss Frances Riley, assistant home demonstration agent, reported 90 members of the 4-H clubs present at their rally in spite of bad weather. Gold star awards were given to the outstanding boy and girl in club work in the county.

Several of the Home Demonstration Clubs have selected their projects for their booth at the Corsicana Fair this fall. Such things as landscaping, making lamp shades, jelly making, lard making and remodeling tables are examples of the demonstrations to be given.

The membership committee reported 35 new members and 27 visitors in the clubs.

LEGISLATURE

McLellan's bill as amended in committee is designed to raise approximately $36,000,000 yearly to help raise teachers' pay to a $2,000 minimum and to expand the farm-to-market road building program.

The house wrangled more than an hour over whether the measure could be "brought back to life" in the face of the speaker's ruling.

A mineral lease bill against which Sen. Jimmy Phillips of Angleton filibustered for nearly six hours yesterday was the first order of business as the senate convened today.

The bill, by Rep. Donald Markle of Galveston, gives the state school land board authority to evaluate and extend leases on submerged state land.

Phillips offered an amendment placing the renewal of bids on a competitive bidding basis.

Oil Leases Issue.

Many 25-year leases now held on submerged lands expire within the next few years. The Markle bill would allow extension of these leases as long as the lease continued to produce.

Under Phillips' proposed amendment, the competitive provision would apply if the leaseholder failed to pay the value set by the state school land board within 90 days.

He ended his speech marathon last night with a motion to adjourn in order that a senate subcommittee could hold its hearings on teachers' pay raise bills.

"If it were not for the fact these teachers have come, some of them hundreds of miles, for the hearing, I would fight this infamous bill as long as my strength held out.

"In order that these teachers will not be disappointed, I move we adjourn until 10:30 a. m. tomorrow," he said.

His filibuster began yesterday morning, was interrupted by a recess for lunch, began again at 2:30 p. m. and continued until 7:26 p. m.

During an earlier attempt to free the senate for the teacher pay bill's hearing, President Pro Tempore Ben Ramsey of San Augustine ruled that if Phillips left the floor he would not have it back in the morning.

Teachers' Pay Studied.

Phillips continued to speak, and before making his motion to adjourn shouted: "If I don't get the floor back, it will be just too bad."

A senate finance sub-committee heard testimony for and against all the bills dealing with teachers' pay raises, but took no action after a session which lasted past midnight.

In its first night meeting of the session, the house approved 44 local and uncontested bills and sent them to the senate.

Worth, Texas; Walker-Smith Co., Hobbs, and Empire Products Corp. and El Paso Wholesale Co., both in El Paso, Texas.

Three officials of the Dr. Pepper Co., were among individuals indicted. They were E. M. Dosser, assistant to the President; George M. Carpenter, traffic manager, and George Orr, manager of the vending equipment division, all of Dallas.

Others for the most part were heads of Dr. Pepper Bottling companies scattered from the Rocky Mountain region to the Atlantic Seaboard, along with executives of the wholesale firms which were billed and assorted small merchants accused of obtaining sugar illegally through operations charged to Bartlett.

Officials of the wholesale companies who were indicted were Porter H. Wilson, vice president of the Tyler-Simpson Co., Fort Worth; Boyer Kee, manager of the Walker-Smith Co., Hobbs; William W. Zimmerman, vice president of Empire Products Corp., and W. B. Cummings, in charge of the sugar rationing department in the El Paso Wholesale Co., both of El Paso.

Names Listed.

The indictments listed the names of these Dr. Pepper Bottling company executives:

New Mexico—Elmo M. Taylor, president, and Franze M. Taylor, vice president; both of Albuquerque. J. R. Alexander, owner, Clovis; and Bartlett, owner and operator, Hobbs.

Oklahoma—J. F. Palmer, owner, Mangum; Gerlad H. Mobley, partner, Ardmore; R. W. Lee, Oklahoma City, owner of Elk City Dr. Pepper plant.

Texas—Elgar C. Goodman, owner, Tulia; J. W. Barnes, owner, Paris; Henry J. Moreland, owner, Abilene; Harry Stalcup, owner, Big Spring; Luther B. Foust, partner, Dalhart; H. R. Dorris, Jr., executive vice president and manager, Fort Worth.

Business Men Indicted.

Five business men at Hobbs, N. M., also were indicted. They are E. L. Randolph, Baker; and J. W. Beasley, E. L. Thomas, J. R. Tate and J. A. Winslow, all owners of eating places.

U. S. Attorney Grantham said the charges covered "probably the biggest sugar fraud in the nation." He explained that rationing enforcement men were unable to account for no more than ten to fifteen millions pounds of sugar distributed under the ration program and said the remainder was believed to have gone to congress in comparative handsul.

Grantham credited investigators out of the enforcement division of the regional office of temporary controls with obtaining evidence which led to the indictments. He said the probe brought evidence of 300,000 pounds more of sugar involved in the operations charged to Bartlett, bringing the grand total of 1,244,904 pounds.

which officers are now checking. If they check out as she said, I think the results would be very favorable to her."

The girl, blonde, mink-coated Beulah Louise Overell, a freshman at the University of Southern California, and George Rector Gollum, 21, were booked yesterday after Sheriff James Musick and Police Chief R. R. Hodgkinson of Newport Beach said they found 38 sticks of dynamite and a time clock aboard the shattered 47-foot yacht of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Overell of Flintridge, exclusive Pasadena suburb.

She and Gollum, husky, bespectacled student, denied any connection with the death in previous questioning.

Asked if his statement regarding Miss Overell, popular member of the junior set, applied also to Gallum, Davis declared:

"I believe they are either in or out of this jointly."

Cure for Crop Aches ...The ALL-CROP HARVESTER

An All-Crop Harvester owner reports that his machine saved 44.7 bushels of wheat per acre from a neighbor's field which was hopelessly lodged and written off as a total loss. The All-Crop handled straw six feet long, tangled and flat on the ground.

Unusual features explain the All-Crop Harvester's ability to cope with extreme conditions. Its close-cutting header literally shaves the ground. The full-width cylinder takes heavy straw and green growth in full stride . . . the oversize straw rack handles big straw volume.

A Quick Speed-Changer crank controls cylinder speed instantly for over 100 different grains, beans and seeds. Weed seeds and dockage are screened out by a ScourKleen attachment.

Harvest worries disappear when you change to the All-Crop Harvester . . . Successor to the Binder.

BERLIN GETS A HOT FOOT

Brick Lined bed insures warmth for this young Berliner.

AP Newsfeatures.

BERLIN — Ingenious Berliners have borrowed a page from the 18th century bag of tricks in order to keep warm in bed.

As a 20th century version of the old bed warmer, the smart ones take two bricks, heat them over the stove, wrap in newspapers, and then place under the bed covers. Proponents of this system swear that even the coldest feet stay warm all night.

Some of the more adventurous bed-warmer enthusiasts have even gone in for brick-lined beds. These people heat 16 bricks, line eight on one side of the bed, eight on the other, and then crawl in between for a well-heated night.

"I now sleep in seventh heaven," advised one of the founders of the new back-to-the-bricks movement.

Less visionary Berliners have been perplexed by the sudden intrest shown in their flower pots and pottery saucers. Subsequent investigation has revealed that these, too, serve as make-shift heaters.

"Yesterday I loaned my neighbor two big flower pots," grinned Mrs. Schmidt. "Today when I went for a visit I discovered her seated in an easy chair, feet propped on top of the two pots which had been warmed over the fire."

Some proud mothers claim that a hot brick in the baby carriage makes little junior a smiling child.

A few Berliners use pottery saucers for warming elbows and hands, but this is only possible with the more experienced.

TEXAS TODAY

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

The most unusual newspaper plant in Texas is the Hillsboro Mirror.

When someone says the press is rolling, you're never sure just what is being printed—newspaper, carpenter's aprons, pennants or fly swatters.

It's a fascinating set-up, and the new editor-publisher, W. N. Furey, is still discovering strange and intriguing things about the 67-year-old plant.

Printed By Novelty Co.

The Mirror is printed by the Texas Novelty Advertising company, and therein lies the tale. At one time, the company made a lot more money out of manufacturing novelty items than it did out of its two papers, The Daily Mirror (established in 1896), or its weekly (founded in 1881.)

Major novelty item still being made there is the carpenter apron. It is sold all over the country. It is an all-Hill county product. The cotton is raised in Hill county, ginned there, then made into duck by local mills.

The cloth is then cut into patterns, printed with proper advertising, sewed and branded by the Mirror crew of experts.

Pencils Among Products.

Other articles Mr. Furey can turn out for you include stamped pencils, bullet pencils (remember them?), printers aprons, paper or palm leaf fans, pennants for fairs, monogrammed match box covers, stamped leather goods, asbestos iron pads, clothespin bags for housewives.

Rummaging around the two-story brick building, Furey has found and is still finding other novelty items that used to be popular in the days the plant was a humming, nationally-known company operated by D. W. Campbell and L. J. Thompson.

These are paperweights, menu covers, key cases, whistles, rulers, the old gasoline gauges so popular with Model T owners, metal fly swatters, a gadget to knock the head off a glass of beer, quill pens, calendars, buttons of various types, fans made in China, ice picks. Recently Furey found a dozen old Oliver typewriters.

Cockleburrs Puzzlers.

Several bags full of cockleburrs had him puzzled for a while, but he's learned now what the ingenious former owners used them for.

Years ago Campbell decided burrs would be nicer than safety pins to hook badges on a person's coat or dress. He sold American Legion officials on the idea, and they bought 50,000 badges for their national convention 22 years ago. After signing the contract, he came home and advertised in his paper that he would buy cockleburrs by the pound.

Farmers, homeowners, boys and girls, everyone began collecting cockleburrs, selling them to Campbell. He then put his plant to work. Some workers would split the burrs in half; others would print the badges; then the badges would be attached to the burr. To attach to one's coat, all you had to do was push lightly—the badge stayed on. No messing around with a pin, no tearing of cloth.

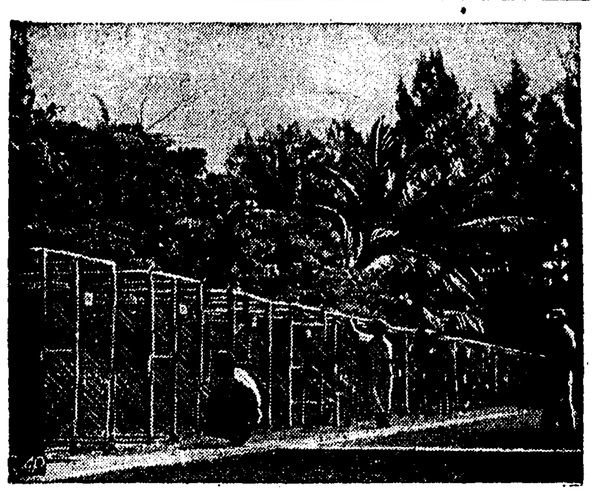

Several Bags Remain.

Several bags of the burrs remain, and Furey may try the idea sometime.

Meanwhile, he's busy concentrating on building up the newspaper. Circulation and advertising already have climbed since he took over last year. He's replacing equipment, and he admits the shop needs it. One Linotype machine is the second model made by the company. The press was made by Duplex and rebuilt and installed by Goss. The Duplex people say they have no record of when it was built.

Once the paper is rolling smoothly, Furey looks forward to doing something about building up the novelty trade. There's something contagious about it.

Globe Trotting Pets Quarantined

SWANK palm bordered pens for Fido and Tabby in Hawaii

AP Newsfeatures.

HONOLULU—Getting a pet into the Territory of Hawaii is something of a long, slow process. Many a dog or cat owner has fussed and fumed over the 120-day quarantine period but Fido and Tabby still must obey the rules and regulations.

Superintendent of the Animal Quarantine Station James Dwight said the Hawaiian Islands never have had a case of rabies, and 120 days is considered the minimum time which will give maximum protection.

Tabby and Fido, during their observation period, are given excellent care. The quarantine yards and buildings take up about seven acres. Each pen, with its own little house at one end, is immaculately clean. Once a day, in the mornings, the animals are fed—averaging about two pounds of food each.

The owners pay board of $48 for dogs and $36 for cats for the four month period. The pets are allowed visitors every day at designated visiting hours. The station has three veterinarians plus several attendants. The veterinarians keep close watch on the health of each animal.

Even at 120 days, Hawaii does not have the longest period of animal quarantine. In Great Britain, for instance, it is six months. But so far as the Territory of Hawaii is concerned, unless you are planning a visit or vacation which will last more than four months, it would be better to kennel your pets at home.

Be Your Own Kibitzer And You Can't Lose

SAN JOSE, Calif.—(AP)—Del Maas noticed how kibitzers always seem to spot winning moves—when checker players cannot. So he tried sitting beside—instead of opposite—his opponent, to get a kibitzer's eyeview. Result: "I beat him easily, and he is a better player than I." Maas said he'd never heard of the stunt before he dreamed it up.

BY HAL BOYLE

FORT MYERS, Fla., March 20. —(AP)—Ten years ago a delegation of Florida public officials and civic leaders, conscience stricken at the poverty of the Seminole Indians a century after the ending of armed conflict between the Redskins and white settlers, called on the Tribal chieftains.

"What can we do to help your distressed people?" they asked.

An interpreter translated the proud and bitter answer of an elderly chief:

"Let us alone!"

Indians Desire Freedom.

Those three words symbolized for a hundred years the Seminole desire to be free of any contact with the white invaders who forcefully carted off to Oklahoma all members of the tribe except those who hid out in the Everglades.

There are signs, however, in the last decade that the Seminoles are gradually exchanging their lost culture of the forest drum for the civilization of the restaurant juke box.

Three factors are influencing the Seminoles to change the ancient pattern of their ways:

Three Influences Change.

(1). The old orthodox chieftains, who hated white men worse than a Georgia Confederate veteran hates General Sherman, are dying out.

(2). A conviction is spreading among the young braves that the palefaces are probably here to stay—all except those accidentally drowned while staking out home-building lots bought during the Florida land boom.

(3). The tribe has grown to 740 members and no longer can kill enough wild game to subsist. It's more profitable to serve as guides for white hunters in quest of the vanishing deer and turkey.

Few Live In Reservations.

Only one-third of the Seminoles live on the 175,000 acres set aside for their use on one state and three federal reservations because the land can't support them all. Needless to say, none of the acreage is on Miami Beach or Palm Beach. Some of the Seminoles exported to Oklahoma got rich on oil, but the boys who stayed here and fought for their little thatched huts in the Everglades don't have much more money than the alligators.

Many who know the Indians well, are dubious of any swift absorption of them. Their tribal government is breaking down, but the Seminoles still smoke a slow peace pipe.

FALSE TEETH
That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wabbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

ONE SHOT, ANOTHER SLASHED IN DALLAS GIN RUMMY DISPUTE

DALLAS, March 20.—(AP)—One man was shot and seriously wounded and another was slashed during an argument over a gin rummy game in downtown Dallas last night.

J. F. (Champ) Farrow, 40, was shot four times. Johnny Stone, about 30, was slashed several times in the abdomen.

Farrow told police that he was winning when the man with whom he was playing was called to the telephone. He said he accused the man who called his opponent to the telephone of being a "kibitzer" and deliberately calling him away from the game.

Do Men Like Women?

Maybe you read that recent article in a national magazine, claiming that American men don't really like the company of women. They just put them up on a pedestal and leave them there.

But I wouldn't say that that was so in our town. Look at any married couple—like the Cuppers. Jane wouldn't nag if Dee spent his evenings "with the boys"—but actually Dee likes nothing better than to stay home by the fire, sharing a glass of beer with Jane, playing cribbage, or just talking.

And when he does go out, for an afternoon of fishing down at Sneard's Creek, or for an evening glass of beer at Andy Botkin's Garden Tavern, Jane is almost always with him (except when she's got a spot of baking in the oven).

From where I sit, respect doesn't rule out everyday companionship . . . and never should. They go together—essential parts of a successful marriage.

FEDERAL OR STATE

Of wide siginificance is the Department of Commerce statement on state surpluses. The total cash balances of 28 states reporting them amounted to $2,807,000,000. This is an unheard-of high because of war-deferred outlays for various state construction projects. New York state led with a accumulation of $501,000,000; California was second with $490,000,000; Illinois and Pennsylvania had $188,000,000 and $181,000,000 respectively.

These surpluses are related to the federal budget which is of so much concern to Congress just now. While Congressmen talk about cutting expenses at the same time they want to expand expenditures for social security, housing, education, various forms of veterans aid, health, improved social and working conditions. Many of these are desirable. But the question arises as to how much of such expenses should be borne by individual states.

At first thought it might seem that states with money should spend it for such worthy causes. But Gov. Dewey of New York probably voiced the opinon of many state offcals when he proposed carrying such welfare levies as emergency state taxes, both to show voters the cost of such programs and to conserve the surplus for delayed and much-needed construction.

This issue of state versus federal responsibility is one of the most important in the minds of all tax students today.

WHAT IS GENIUS?

The term genius has come to have a connotation of mental instability. The average individual is apt to think of a genius as being half-cracked, except perhaps along one line, and as a person imperfectly adjusted to normal life.

Dr. Emil Bunta, in a paper for the Illinois Medical Journal, disagrees with these commonly held ideas. He lists four points which he says are characteristic of geniuses:

1. The ability to come up with new idgas, whether artistic, literary, scientific, philosophic or practical.
2. Complete disinterest in personal gain.
3. A quality of permanence about work achieved.
4. A world-wide appreciation of it.

Bunta states that if 20,000 well-known leaders in th world were listed, true genius would be found in about one. He named Wilhelm Roentgen, discoverer of the X-ray, and Charles F. Kettering, automobile wizard as examples of genius.

These qualifications may meet approval in scientific circles, just as many practical people define genius as "the art of taking pains" or as "a capacity for hard work." But to most observers of human nature, the attributes of genius will remain as mysterious and unaccountable as the behavior of lightning or any other great natural force.

PRAYER AND POLICE

On the walls of Philadelphia's City Hall is the prayer for the city uttered by its founder, William Penn:

"Oh- that thou mayest be kept from the evil that would overwhelm thee."

Modern Philadelphians seem to think they can be saved from evil a bit better by their police than by Penn's prayers. Attached to the hat of the giant Penn statue atop the City Hall they have erected a seven foot antenna for the two-way radio of the police department.

Penn, who himself had suffered imprisonment on several occasions, preached justice and brotherly love. What would he think of this arrangement on his hat? He was a practical man, and a forward looking one as witness his advocacy, almost 100 years ahead of the Revolution, of a union of the colonies. Chances are he would approve heartily of this modern crime control mechanism. And probably he would get a sly laugh or two out of this unusual use of a broad brimmed Quaker hat.

"Trust God and keep your powder dry!" and "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition" are characteristically American slogans. "Faith without works is dead," said St. James, long before Columbus discovered us. The combination of prayer and police ought to do something for any community.

TENURE TOO SHORT

Washington officials should be appointed for a year only and then be subject to senatorial confirmation before their terms are renewed, says Commentator David Lawrence. This would enable Congress to keep a check on them.

It would indeed. And officials being what they are, they should spend most of their time in making friends with influential senators instead of doing their work. No large scale plans would be made, for there would be no certainty of the official being there after a year. The Senate, which already has a pretty strong grip on Presidential appointments, would then have a stranglehold.

No large corporation sees the directors constantly checking up on the superintendent's appointments. The choice and control of bureau heads is executive business, not legislative. Only in Congress is there a constant effort to have more to say about appointments. The reason is simple: congressmen want more jobs to hand out.

The automobile has been a great institution, but sooner or later it will probably disappear for lack of a place to park.

That Senate budget cut makes a lot of us tax-payers feel like going right and cutting some of our own budgets a little.

Now that we're getting atomic power, we lazy fellows will just have another excuse for not working.

JACK POT

He hit the jack pot! In a flash,
In nickels, flowed a lot of cash.
The little metal cavern filled;
Upon the floor the surplus spilled.
On hands and knees he crawled about,
To search the final nickel out.

He lifted ladies" feet to see
If underneath a coin could be,
And got from them some icy stares.
Beneath the tables and the chairs
He sprowled and squirmed till he'd regained
All that the jack pot had contained.

"This is my lucky day!" he cried.
"To hit the jack pot long I've tried."
Then, with the nickels in a stack,
He stood right there and played them back--
And with them, several dollars more--
Which left him poorer than before.

FORCE THAT WILL CHANGE WORLD NOW IN OPERATION*

Power Bequeathed by Jesus is at Present Working Upon Minds of Mankind - - Master's Message of Peace and Joy and Unity - - Promise of the Comforter

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLAS

Within two days recently I received two significant letters from old friends, one a British lord of high fame and the other a Turkish statesman. Both are profoundly concerned with these troubled times and both are reaching out for some solution.

My Turkish friend, a Moslem, devotes most of his letter to a tentative consideration of the possibility of a union of all religions. He thinks that the world must become one spiritually before it can be rally united politically. His wistful letter reflects the mood of millions. In it I find an echo of Christ's prayer that "they all may be one."

The Mystic Unity

In this tender farewell message to His friends—with the throb of heart-break in every sentence,—Jesus set forth the sublime truth of His eternal unity with God, and of the disciple's unity with Him. This is soaring truth. It reaches from creation to consummation. It states the awesome mystery of the oneness of Father and Son and all believers. "Neither pray I for these alone, but for them which shall believe on me through their word;" "That they all may be one; as thou, Father, art in me, and I in thee, that they also may be one in us, that the world may believe that thou hast sent Me."

Can we doubt that the present universal concern with spiritual matters is at least a partial answer to the Saviour's intercessary prayer? Surely the tides of God are sweeping over the earth. Everybody is thinking more about God than ever before. In the face of possible disaster for all humanity, there is no place to turn but to the Eternal and Omnipotent Father whose revelation of Himself in Jesus Christ underlies this moving passage of scripture.

The Praying Son

Not in a public address to the multitudes, but in the secretly gathered groun of His intimates, Jesus opened His heart as a man about to die. These were His last formal words before He went to the cross. He unveiled His deepest concerns in prayer to His Father.

That Jesus should pray is a theme worthy of deep consideration. In the light of His unity with the Father, and His statement of His own mission and authority, why need He pray? Yet prayer was the outstanding characteristic of His life. He began His mission with forty days of prayer and fasting. His whole ministry was marked by nights of mountain-top praying. In this final session with the disciples He poured out His final message in the form of an intercessory prayer.

And, from His throne in the heavens, He still prays. "He ever liveth to make intercession for us." Many groups of Christians in our sorely beset day are organized to pray for an imperilled world: and their number should be multiplied. Such as these are in spiritual fellowship with the ever-praying Saviour. We have an advocate with the Father in Heaven. The intercession of the Son is blended with the intercessions of His friends. So this crisis hour is a call to prayer—to ejaculatory prayers, to long, wrestling prayers, to common prayer where two or three, or thousands of Christ's friends' are gathered together. "Let us pray."

The Great Unity

Our day is witnessing a mood of unity which some think an answer to the Saviour's prayer. It is expressed in ecclesiastical mergers and in comprehensive world organizations. This outward and mechanical consolidation of religious bodies should be encouraged. But evidently Jesus had more than this on his mind. He coveted a spiritual unity that comes from a common fellowship with God. Christian unity is more important than Church union. Jesus, the Good Shepherd, talked of one flock, rather than of one fold. He prayed that His disciples might be one with Him and with the Father. Not new organizations, but a new drawing closer together of His friends to God was His program.

We notice that Jesus prayed first for His intimates, the group present with Him in the upper room. They were to bear the first shock and burden of carrying on the Master's mission. They were His first concern. On them He depended for the continuation of all that He had come to earth to proclaim.

But later on in His prayer, Jesus' thought reached down through the ages—even to our own time—to pray for all the successors of the disciples. That means us. As we struggle for world revival and world peace and world unity, we know that we are the object of the Master's intercessory prayer. He and we and all spiritually minded person on earth, may expect great things from a Triune God who loves the whole world.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

The way of duty is often rugged, but it is always royal.
—Albertson.

Great eaters and great sleepers are incapable of anything else that is great.
—Henry IV of France.

And I smiled to think God's greatness
Flowed around our incompleteness;
Round our restlessness, His rest.
—Anon.

At the beginning of the cask and at the end take thy fill, but be saving in the middle; for at the bottom saving comes too late.
—Hesiod.

Holy Father, keep through thine own name those whom thou hast given Me, that they may be one, as We are.
—John 17:11.

A mighty fortress is our God.
A bulwark never failing;
Our helper He amid the flood
Of mortal ills prevailing.
—Luther.

So, from generation to generation, the spiritual Church is rising upwards toward its perfection; and, though one after another of the workmen may pass away, the fabric remains and the great Master-builder carries on the undertaking.
—Taylor.

Cardui is a liquid medicine which many women say has brought relief from the cramp-like agony and nervous strain of functional periodic distress. Here's how it may help!

1 Taken like a tonic, it should stimulate appetite, aid digestion,* thus help build resistance for the "time" to come.

Opposition Voiced By Teachers To Taylor Pay Plan

AUSTIN, March 18.—(AP)—Chas. H. Tennyson, public relations director of Texas State Teachers' Association, reiterated opposition of school teachers to Sen. James E. Taylor's equalization salary aid plan last night. He spoke at a meeting of Austin parents and teachers.

"We can not support the equalization plan," he said. "Equalization such as is now in effect is necessary for some school districts as a supplement to the $55 per capita apportionment but not as a substitute."

Tennyson declared that the schools of Texas would be subject "to political uncertainty if the Taylor bill were adopted."

OLD LETTER FOUND IN BUILDING BEING RAZED ON BEATON

A letter preceding the date of construction of the C. H. Allyn Building, corner of West Collin and South Beaton streets, being razed for a new building, was found in the second floor Tuesday morning by Buford Thomas, workman.

The letter was dated February 16, 1881, three years earlier than the date of the building's construction. A Kress store is to occupy the new building at this busy intersection

The letter was from the office of James Comerford, County Clerk, Chippewa County, Wisconsin, and was addressed to Mrs. Uriah M. See, Corsicana, in answer to a previous communication about 80 acres of land located in that county. The land in question had been sold for taxes, the county clerk said, but if minor heirs were involved, under Wisconsin law, the land could be recovered for the taxes and interest, about $1 per acre.

The letter was in excellent state of preservation, indicating it had probably been in office files most of the time

The second story of the building being torn down formerly housed law and other offices. The last ground floor tenants of the building were the Brown Hat Shop, Edward M. Polk insurance office and the office of Dr. A. R. Johnson.

No action was taken on a proposal to close the Ennis IOOF Home and move the present facilities to Corsicana. Unless action is taken at the concluding session this afternoon, the matter must lay over until the Houston convention, which will begin the third Monday in March, 1948.

William J. T. Ford, past noble grand of the IOOF Lone Star Lodge No. 1, presented Grand Lodge Secretary S. M. Williams of Dallas with an elaborate brochure from the various Houston city and lodge officials.

Mike Peveto, Beaumont, outgoing grand master; Jim Ellett, Corsicana, and Claude Ritche, Dallas, were named to the state IOOF board of trustees in elections last night. Ritchie was re-elected and Peveto and Ellett replace H. B. Caddel of Denton and Luther D. Eubank of Waxahachie.

J. I. Ellett, Corsicana, Monday night was elected as a trustee of the Grand Lodge of Texas, IOOF, and the Homes at Corsicana and Ennis at the meeting of the Grand Lodge in Amarillo.

The annual session of the Rebekah Assembly of Texas is also in progress.

The sessions opened Sunday and were concluded Tuesday afternoon with the formal installation of the newly-elected officers.

County Native Leader

Clarence E. Woods of Lubbock, elevated to the office of grand master, is a native of Purdon, Navarro county. He succeeds Mike Peveto of Beaumont as the head of this fraternity for the ensuing year.

The completion of the new IOOF Home here is one of the main objectives of the fraternity during the present year. Started during the short term of Sherman C. Reed of Dallas when the "love offering" campaign was inaugurated, the actual construction was commenced during the term of Peveto and much of the two new wings and the new kitchen and dining room has been erected.

Austin Contractor Honored

Frank Rundell, Austin contractor, who is in charge of the Home construction program, was elevated to the office of deputy grand master and will be Woods' successor. Lem Wray, Waxahachie attorney and secretary of the Waxahachie lodge, was elected grand warden, beginning his tenure that will ultimately put him in the grand master's chair.

S. M. Williams, Dallas, a product of the IOOF Home here, was re-elected grand secretary, while J. W. Hampton, Dallas, former superintendent of the Homes, was re-elected grand treasurer. T. F. Aston, Sherman mayor and past grand master, senior representative to the Sovereign Grand Lodge, was re-elected as representative.

Rebekahs Elect

Officers elected by the Rebekah Assembly are Mrs. Louise Reinicke, Houston, president; Mrs. Gene Lawless, El Paso, vice president; Mrs. Bessie Carter, San Angelo, grand warden; Mrs. Bertha H. Porter, Fort Worth, grand secretary; Miss Myrtle Russell, Electra, grand treasurer, and Mrs May Self, Terrell, trustee, re-elected.

Ellett, connected with the Corsicana post office for years, is secretary of Corsicana Lodge No. 63, IOOF, and has been prominent in the lodge's circles for many years. He is the first Corsicanan to be trustee of the Homes since John C. Hughes declined to serve longer several years ago.

Roane Lad Is Guest Of Mayor For Short Time

Samnie West, Jr., of Roane, red-haired and teary-eyed, was the guest of Mayor John C. Calhoun Monday.

Sammie, two and one-half years old, didn't know it was the mayor, but the mayor didn't know it was Sammie, which made it about even.

The child, son of Mrs. Sam West, slipped out of his mother's car while it was parked near the postoffice.

He traveled.

Picked up by a couple, he was brought to the city hall where the mayor took him over, tears and all. When Mayor Calhoun's lunch time came, he left the tot with the police department, and it sounded as if a new fire siren had been invented, so great was the vocal disapproval of being left.

The mayor had to take him home with him.

The mother came to the city hall and calmed her red-head when the mayor returned.

TEEN TALK

Dear Judy:

Are you up on your best school manners? Can I hear you moan? The kids at North Side High school, Fort Wayne, Indiana, are going to be a courteous crew or else. A courtesy week sponsored by the student council will wage war on students who: (1) rush and push at drinking fountains; (2) run through halls: (3) are discourteous in class; (4) exhibit undue affection within school grounds; (5) have messy lockers; (6) make exits dangerous by pushing through doors.

Maybe some of the autograph hunters in New York should take a few tips from these courtesy cues. They ought to hang their heads in shame for giving teenagers a bad reputation. Many movie stars refuse to have anything to do with them, and some of those who do, as one did recently, wind up in the hospital. These kids act more like head hunters than autograph hunters. Imagine a boy seeking an autograph, tackling a movie star by her ankles and knocking her unconscious? The nice New York kids who outnumber these savages a thousand to one should gang up on 'em and ostracize 'em from decent groups.

Martin Karplus, 16, of West Newton, Mass., won Grand Prize for Boys in the Westinghouse Talent Search for his plan to use radar to discover the orientation ability of birds. Martin is puzzled about how migratory birds fly hundreds of miles, with the seasons, and return to a nesting place they enjoyed the previous year. Martin, who received a $2,400 scholarship prize, says he believes a small radar set, used at night and in fog, will detect bands of birds in flight and show whether they depend upon sight for guiding them in flight or upon some other sense.

Vera Demerec, the winner of the grand prize for girls, specialized in genetics, the study of heredity. At 16, she already has had experience as a full time biological laboratory assistant to a Columbia University geneticist.

MANY ABSENT FROM PUBLIC SCHOOLS ON ACCOUNT OF ILLNESS

A number of teachers and hundreds of students of the Corsicana schools are absent, due to illness, principally influenza, a survey Wednesday morning indicated, although in some instances conditions are improved over those of last week. Supt. W. H. Norwood was ill Wednesday, as were a number of teachers, but epidemic proportions have not been reached.

There were 58 absentees in Senior High school Wednesday, less than last week, with the same conditions prevailing at Junior High school with 50 absent. At one time last week there were 75 absentees at Junior High.

One-fourth of the students at Stephen F. Austin ward school were absent Wednesday, while at David Crockett, 5 out of 36 were not in school. About 100 are absent at Sam Houston of 365 enrollment. Travis school reported one teacher out with absentees much less than last week when the critical conditions were encountered. Lee school reported 73 out of 392 enrollment absent.

Booker T. Washington ward school reported only 12 absentees Wednesday, although many more were absent last week because of influenza and chickenpox.

State Home reported about 70 cases of influenza and the 34-bed hospital at the Home has been filled the past two weeks. No one is seriously ill at the Home now, M. L. Kelly, superintendent, said.

Solution Tuesday's Puzzle

Firemen Called To Rescue Cat In Tree

There are some—stubborn people—who won't admit that it was raining "cats and dogs" Tuesday afternoon, but two Corsicana firemen are not among them.

They were startled, to be sure, when during the heaviest part of the downpour Tuesday a woman called for firemen to rescue a pet cat.

It was, it seems, in a tree.

The two firemen (it being decided in caucus that two firemen were equal to one cat) donned their rubber coats and hats and went.

One of them climbed a tree and got the pet cat. Everybody was happy about it, with the possible exception of the dog that had chased the cat up there in the first place.

And maybe the firemen.

PRODUCTION CREDIT OFFICERS ELECTED AT RECENT MEETINGS

During the past week members of the local Production Credit Association set a new record for attendance at their annual stockholders' meeting which was held in three sections due to the association's increased membership. Total attendance at the three-section meeting was 1111. Members met at Hillsboro, Waxahachie and Corsicana, March 10, 11 and 12.

Director Tom Weaver of Chatfield, Navarro county, was re-elected for a three-year term. Holdover directors are L. C Parks, Ennis; J. A. Jackson, Powell; G. B. Kirkpatrick, Grandview, and Victor Terry, Hillsboro.

Following the stockholders' meeting, the association's board of directors hold their annual organization meeting. Officers elected are L. C. Parks, president; Victor Terry, vice president; Glenn Atkins, secretary-treasurer; Byron Harwell, assistant secretary-treasurer.

Association capital and surplus owned by association members has been increased to approximately $225,000. They expect to increase this amount to $300,000 by the end of the year and assume full ownership and control of the association, thereby making it a locally owned and locally operated farmers' co-operative lending agency.

STARTING CUTTINGS NOW SAID RIGHT TO HAVE FALL PLANTS

Many of the common shrubs, trees and vines may be grown easily from cuttings, and although these may be planted most any month of the year, the cuttings set out early will give the grower larger plants to put out in the open ground next fall, says Miss Eva Sue Merritt, county home demonstration agent.

The agent has outlined procedure for selecting and planting cuttings. Choose a limb that grew last year, about the thickness and length of a new pencil. Be sure to select a healthy, unbruised cutting. If the plant has leaves, two or three left at the top of the cuting will make food for the new plant.

Plant the cuttings in rows four to six inches apart in the garden or in a cutting bed, she advises. Leave only an inch or two out of the ground. If the cutting has no leaves, see that at least one strong bud is growing about an inch from the top.

Planting four or five extra cuttings for each plant that actually needed is a smart move, says Miss Merritt. Then the surplus plants can be exchanged with neighbors, or given as presents when rooted in pots, cans or boxes.

Sharp, clean sand is good rooting soil, but Texas gardeners have been very successful in rooting cuttings in all soil types which grow crops in the state. Good drainage and plenty of moisture are necessary in growing young plants. A two or three inch mulch and half shade promote growth in the summer.

Miss Merritt says all our plants, shrubs and trees can be grown from cuttings, except a few like peaches, pear, pines, oaks, cherry laurel, photinia and Arizona cypress. These may be grown from seed.

Social Security Boost

A change in the Social Security Act will benefit a number of the 113 retired workeers in Navarro county according to an announcement today by R. R. Tuley, Jr., manager of the Social Security Administration office in Waco. The amendments that the retirement payment may now be refigured as of the date which will give the highest benefit rate, and will provide a raise for those who waited for some months before retirement or after leaving covered employment before filing their social security applications.

FIRST METHODIST IS HOST TO MEETING OF YOUTH FELLOWSHIP

On account of adverse weather conditions, the monthly meeting of the Corsicana Sub-District Youth Fellowship scheduled at the Methodist church in Dawson Tuesday night was transferred to the First Methodist church here and met in connection with the Church Workers Training Conference now under way at the church.

There were a large number of young people who held their meeting in the adult room of the Educational building. In addition to a business session and worship period, motion pictures were shown.

The five classes met jointly at the recess period for another motion picture on teaching methods, after which all gathered in the banquet hall for refreshments of cold drinks and cookies served under direction of Mrs. Veola Short, director of religious education.

Officers Tipton and Horn tagged 10 cars for overparking Wednesday, and one for blocking a fire plug. One person paid a $1 fine.

One person was charged with drunkenness after his arrest in the 200 block of North Commerce treet.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, March 20.—(AP)—Stocks generally reverted to an offside drift in today's market although assorted leaders managed to make a little headway. Dealings were among the slowest of the past year.

Minus signs predominated at the close. Transfers tapered to around 600,000 shares.

Modest advances were attached to International Harvester, Eastern Air Lines, United Air Lines, Union Carbide, Detroit Edison, Philip Morris and Standard Oil (N. J.). Atlas Tack was up 5 1-4 points on the first sale since March 12

Laggards were U S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Norfolk and Western, Northern Pacific, American Telephone, Cerro De Pasco, Montgomery Ward, Du Pont and Johns-Mannville.

Bonds were mixed. Gyrating commodities remained as a cautionary argument for securities. At Chicago grains rose and fell sharply at intervals. Wheat ended up 2 cents a bushel to off 6, corn 3-4 to 2 1-4 higher and oats off 2 1-4 to up 7-8. Cotton, toward the finish, was down 10 to 55 cents a bale.

It Happened 25 Years Ago Today

(From the Files of The Corsicana Daily Sun)

Items brought to the attention of the city commission today included an ordinance adopted to put down sidewalks on the north side of West Second avenue between Eighteenth and Twentieth streets, and the announcement of the raising of funds for an extension of the sewer lines along West Second avenue and North Twenty-third street.

A. W. Crews, T. J. Braselton and C. G. Davidson have announced as candidates for school trustees. Ben F. Blackmon has announced for city commissioner.

The Oil City baseball team defeated Rice 17-1, in a near shutout.

Constable Charles Hamby announced himself a candidate for sheriff of Travis county on the anti-Ku Klux Klan ticket.

Another new well came in in the Curry vicinity. It was the Sun Company's Oscar Bounds and production was estimated at 400 barrels the first day.

Order In the Court! Don't Leer at the Jury

SALEM, Ill.—(AP)—By a court order, the Marion county courtroom jury "box"—always an open affair on a platform—shall have a railing and a curtain fronting it, thus limiting the view of the jurors. Judge James McMackin, explaining his order, said that when the jury box was built women did not serve on juries "and now they do." He added: "Well, the reason should be apparent to anyone."

MOST ILLNESS SAID MENTAL BY DOCTOR AT DALLAS SESSION

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD

DALLAS, March 20.—(AP)—The ill health of possibly a majority of persons who go to a doctor is mental in origin, Dr. John C. Whitehorn, professor of psychiatry at Johns Hopkins University, Baltimore, said here today.

Whitehorn told the 16th annual spring clinic of the Dallas Southern Clinical Society that "estimates range up to two-thirds of all patients as the proportion of those in whom the most significant cause of ill health is of emotional or neurotic character."

Doctor Can Help.

The professor said the general practitioner, properly trained, can treat some mental illnesses, but added:

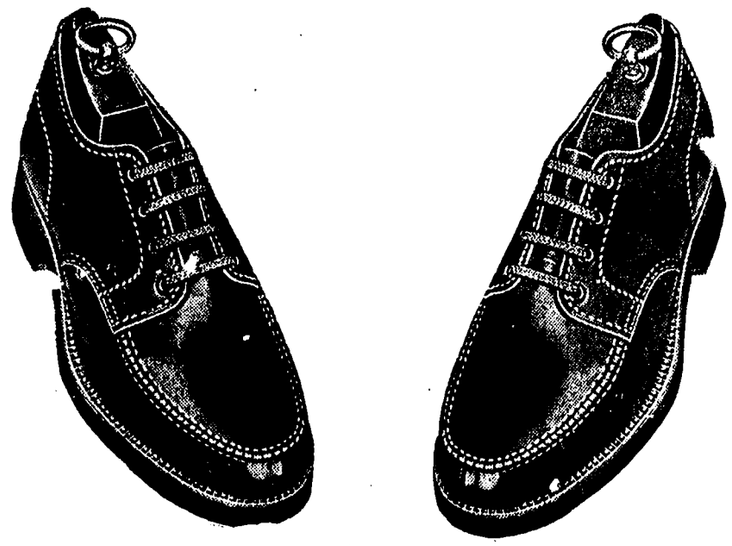

"People can sometimes endure to take off their concealments and look at themselves, in the doctor's presence, in a way they can do in few other situations. If the doctor can stand the view, the patient can too.

"Some doctors can't stand it—they are made very uncomfortable by raw human nature. Such a doctor should not try to do psychotherapy. Human nature is not all pretty on the inside. There is a good deal of meanness and low animal nature native to everyone. There is some reason to believe that pople in general now have a less sordid view of sex than prevailed a generation ago. Nevertheless, the physician who undertakes to do psychotheraphy should be prepared to make the acquaintance of some fairly sordid aspects of human nature, sexual or otherwise.

Experience Is Helpful.

"Those who have to steel themselves to endure the sordid revelations of human impulses do not do very good psychotherapy. It seems to require a fairly robust faith in the human race—a faith which may grow with a doctor's experience, as his knowledge of his patients' lives broadens and deepens."

TESTS TO BE MADE OF CLOTHES, HATCHET IN NEGRO YOUTH'S DEATH

As law enforcement agencies continued their investigations into the death of Oliver Lampkins, 10-year old negro boy, Tuesday night, March 11, the shoes, clothes, a hatchet and other articles were taken to Austin for analysis by the Texas department of safety by Deputy Sheriff R. E. Jones Wednesday.

The mother, Ethel Marie Lampkins, remains in the Navarro county jail facing a murder charge filed by David Castles, sheriff; accepted by Chrarles T. Banister, county attorney, and filed before Judge A. E. Foster. The child died of head wounds, a ruptured bladder and other injuries, it was stated, allegedly inflicted by the mother after the youngster was said to have been accused of stealing some syrup at the family residence in East Corsicana.

Examination of the clothing and hatchet are to be made to determine whether or not human blood is found.

The grand jury will probably investigate the case when it reconvenes Friday, March 28.

Mr. and Mrs. Liston Tatum, Jr., of Evanston, Ill., are expected over the week end for a visit with Mr. Tatum's parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Tatum.

PROPOSED LOAN TO GREECE DISCUSSED AT ROTARY MEETING

The $400,000,000 loan to Greece proposed by President Truman is the Greek people's only hope for industrial salvation, S. M. Georgas, Corsicana restaurant owner, told members of the Rotary Club at their weekly luncheon at the Navarro Hotel Wednesday.

Georgas, a Greek, affectionately known as "George" to most of Corsicana, was central figure in a question-and-answer forum on the condition of his homeland. He returned to Greece last summer after an absence of 37 years, and came back to Corsicana late in 1946.

"The Greek people do not want you or anybody else to give them anything," he said. "They just want the means to rehabilitate themselves, to put their farms in shape, to rebuild their industry and shipping and transportation.

Loan Helpful.

"The loan would be helpful and carefully spent. To my way of thinking, it is the only thing that can save Greece now."

He said the Greek people wished the withdrawal of the British soldiers, as the "people do not like the soldiers there."

"The British merely stay there and eat," he said. "They don't do much else that know of."

Discussing the threat of Communism, Georgas said that in his old section there was little evidence of the movement, but declared it strong in the northern borderlands.

Liberty-Loving People.

"The Communist appeals to the kids," he said. "The Greek oldsters pay no attention, because the Greeks are a liberty-loving people. They admire the Western civilization and the democratic form of government more than any country I know of. They detest the Communist just as they detested the Axis. The love of liberty was shown well by their resistance to the Axis, because they did not want to be subjugated."

Georgas said practically all of Greece's farm machinery and animals were gone. What railroad equipment the Germans did not remove, they destroyed. Shipping was cut one-fourth by inroads of German destruction. The Corinth canal is choked with vessels sunk by the Germans, he added.

"All that is left to the Greeks today is what they can produce with manual labor. This is not enough.

Need Many Things.

"Of the farm animals needed, they have but 75 percent. There is no machinery at all. Milk cows are very short. Fuel is scarce. Power is shutdown during the day and is used sparingly between 7 p. m. and 1 a. m. at night. There is no coal except what industry demands. For warmth they use charcoal, and that is scarce.

"The housing situation is desperate. Durding the war 1400 villages were destroyed in their entirety, many more partially destroyed. People are living in caves, in old buildings."

Despite Greek control of the banking system, Georgas said, the rate of exchange has jumped from 5 to 1 to 5,000 to 1 on the American dollar scale.

He said the Greek people voted return of the monarchy only after weighing the two alternatives—democracy without the monarch, or the monarch.

People Afraid.

"The people were afraid of that democracy they were offered. They preferred the return of the king to a democracy they feared would be controlled by the Leftists. They don't like the king, either," he said.

Jerry C. Roe conducted the question and answer program, with Georgas being introduced by Lyndon Johnson.

Thomas George III was introduced as a new member. Visitors included Chester North of Waxahachie and Drew Gillen of Blooming Grove.

Rex Bounds, president, announced cards had been mailed to members for their selection of the outstanding Rotarian of 1946. Identity of the member selected will be made at the Ladies Night program to be held April 10.

Mrs. W. P. McCammon is an influenza patient this week.

Tennis Tournament Entries Announced For District 34-B

The District 34-B Interscholastic League tennis meet will get under way Wednesday morning, March 19, at 9 o'clock at the City Park courts here, where the eliminations and finals in the girls' competition will be held, W. C. Murdock, tennis director, announced Tuesday.

The boys' competition will be run off on Thursday morning, starting at 9 o'clock. Both Wednesday's and Thursday's matches consist of junior and senior singles and doubles matches. Grade school tennis competition is not included, and will be run off at an unnamed future date.

Only four teams, Rice, Frost, Richland and State Home, are entered. Due to the small number of entries, the matches will probably be finished by noon of each day, Murdock said.

The State Home girls entered in the competition are Bobbie Campbell, Delia Dowell, Emma Alford, Evelita Downey, Marilyn Sanders and Edith Land.

Entered in the boys' competition are the following Lads: Tommie Gordon, Dwaine Weatherford, W. A. Cannon, Curtis Jones, Jimmie Pillows, James Lawrence and Buck Phillips.

The Frost girl entries are Gwynne Hooser, Clarice Woolley, Shirley Brown, Peggy Kidd, Nedra Moore, Maggie Joe Pevehouse.

Frost boys entered are Bobbie Templeton, Charles Ellis, James Hawkins, Bennie Burns, Milton Vinson and Bennie Scott.

The following players from Rice are entered: R. M. Bowden, Claude Grace, Sue Faulkner, Bennie Roberts, Jack Hobbs and Harry Campbell.

The following Richland players will compete: Virginia Fleming, La Juna Petton, Mary Allie Winstead, Howard Tidwell, Guy Campbell, Morrison McDaniel, Tom Allen, Silvanus Herod and Jo Doyle Anderson.

Announce Arrival of Son.

Stf. Sgt. and Mrs. Fred Dugger announce the arrival of a son, Michael Joseph, at the Navarro Clinic on Sunday evening, March 16th.

The new arrival is the grandson of Mrs. Gladys Burkhart of Kinsloe House, and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dugger of Phoenix, Ariz.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET POSTPONED FOR DISTRICT 34-B TEAMS

Volleyball and literary contests in District 34-B, University of Texas Interscholastic League, will be carred out as scheduled at the State Home Friday, it was announced Wednesday following a meeting of officials of the Interscholastic League, but the track and field competition has been postponed until Monday, March 31. The track and field meet will also be held at the State Home. John H. Corner, State Home coach, is the athletic director of the league in charge of the track. His club is the defending champion.

Tennis eliminataion began Wednesday at the City Park courts here for the district.

Prevalence of influenza and threatening weather conditions caused the decision to be reached relative to the postponement of the track and field contests.

Coach Corner said his tracksters would go to Austin next week end to compete in the Texas relays at the University of Texas.

Tips For Cooking Frozen Vegetables

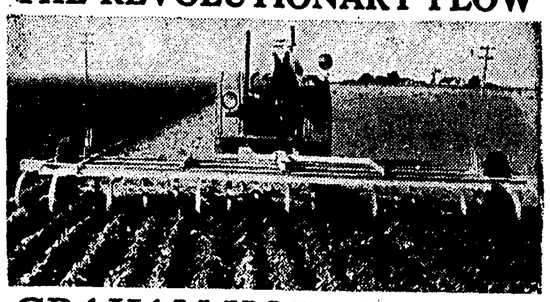

A report on research work that may answer questions that housewives have been asking about cooking frozen vegetables in a pressure saucepan has been compiled by Eva Sue Merritt, county home demonstration agent.

Miss Merritt says that state experiment stations conducting work on the subject report that while frozen vegetables can be cooked in the saucepan, this procedure is impractical in some ways.

For instance, frozen peas may be cooked in the usual way in less time than it takes to bring the pressure up in a pressure pan. On the other hand, the agent says, frozen vegetables like lima beans can be cooked in the pressure pan in only one and a half to two and a half minutes, when they take 16 to 22 minutes without pressure. Cooks should find out what vegetables will cook fast enough to compensate for the extra care and attention necessary in using a sauce pan.

Vets Asked To Call For Discharge Papers

County Clerk Vernon Harwell, head man in that record-packed office at the county courthouse, puts a premium on storage space, and the mounting stack of photostatic copies and originals of discharges from the armed services accumulating in his office has him in a quandary.

It seems that veterans have brought these to the county clerk's office to be copied for various reasons, and failed to come back after them. Among the discharges is one original and copy of a discharge from the army following World War I.

Harwell asked that the following people pick up their discharges from his office as soon as possible:

Harrison Smith, Clint Baxter, Jr., Ralph Edwin Hatley, Stanley Gilbert Palmer, Jack G. Clark, Homer Hitchcock, Allen R. Nelson, Jr., Thomas B. Stanley, John W. Howell, Dorsey McGraw, W. A. McGriff, Jimmie D. Baggett and E. C. Miller.
